Students interacting to Tehsil Official for Observation and Clarification: 18 March 2023

Findings:

Constitution of India has made anticipation for progressing the ambitions and protecting the rights of different sections and classes of the Indian people. In concentrating themselves to the distribution of justice, the Courts should automatically pay heed to the ideals and objectives preserved in the Constitution and to the comprehensive provisions made in relation to those sections and classes. Nonetheless, the Court remains the patron of justice to all citizens, in accordance with their respective rights and obligations. In assisting the Courts in their great purposefulness, the legal occupation holds a role of considerable significance. It is a role assigned to the legal profession by history and by the nature of its functions. To make laws more effective, the judicial system must work with a perception to work for the objectives of Indian constitution. An efficient judicial system demands not only the right results be reached although that they be reached promptly. Distresses have also been outstretched on quality of legal services accessible to the poor and marginalized largely due to averseness on the part of qualified advocates to undertake for the legal aid services.

Students learned the functioning of the government office especially revenue department and understood the legal and constitutional values in India.
